Artist Statement

My work is primarily a response to the Wimmera landscape. This is the country I grew up in and its where I live today. My simple aim is to manifest the changing nature of this landscape in my work. This country is affectionately known as the land of the big sky and it is from this viewpoint looking down and across, that inspires my sense of image making. Occasionally I refer to stories that occurred from times past but generally these images reflect the current state of this land. Whilst the seasonal changes are acknowledged the pervading dryness is responsible for this series title of "Such is Dry Land"
